Dans le cadre de la mise en œuvre de la stratégie nationale de planification de la santé, le Ministère de la Santé Publique (MSP) a initié une série de réformes visant à améliorer l'efficacité et la qualité des services de santé. Ces réformes sont structurées autour de trois axes principaux : la réforme de la gouvernance, la réforme de la prestation des services et la réforme de la gestion des ressources humaines.

La réforme de la gouvernance vise à renforcer le rôle du MSP en tant qu'autorité régulatrice et à promouvoir la décentralisation des décisions. Elle implique la mise en place de comités de gestion dans les régions et les districts, ainsi que la création de nouvelles entités administratives. La réforme de la prestation des services vise à améliorer l'accès et la qualité des soins de santé primaires, secondaires et tertiaires. Elle implique la mise en place de programmes de soins de santé communautaires, la réforme des hôpitaux et la mise en place de services de santé spécialisés. La réforme de la gestion des ressources humaines vise à attirer, former et motiver le personnel de santé. Elle implique la mise en place de programmes de formation, la mise en place de systèmes de rémunération et la mise en place de programmes de développement professionnel continu.

Ces réformes sont essentielles pour atteindre les objectifs de la stratégie nationale de planification de la santé et pour améliorer la santé de la population. Elles nécessitent cependant un soutien financier et technique important. C'est pourquoi le MSP sollicite le soutien de la communauté internationale pour financer ces réformes et pour fournir l'expertise nécessaire.
